Three Temples Meet for Joint Ceremonial at Rock Springs.

TRAINS ARRIVE
Visiting Nobles Feted at Masonic Temples at Noon.

Led by three uniformed bands and a trumpet-drum corps, more than 5,000 nobles of the Mystic Shrine, gathered here from temples of three states for one of the greatest joint ceremonials in the history of the order, march in a parade through the downtown section at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

With Mayor Ralph C. Benendum as grand marshal and Frank McNutt and G. A. Arner as assistants, the parade of brilliantly clad Shriners made a colorful opening to the day's program. Thousands of spectators lined Broadway, Monroe, and Fifth and Sixth streets to witness the spectacle. Great crowds gathered near the Masonic temple in Sixth street where the Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones, Houston, Tex., and potentates of the Al Koran, Syria and Osiris temples, surrounded by their divans, reviewed the line of march from special stand.

Bands from each of the three temples, wearing bright red and green uniforms, highly embroidered with gold braid, and others in blue and gold and combinations of the Shrine colors, reached East Liverpool aboard special cars from the Chester depot where three special cars were aboard the two trains.

Railroad authorities estimated 1,500 Shriners were aboard the Pittsburgh and Wheeling specials which arrived at the Chester station. More than 600 were on the Al Koran special from Cleveland to East Liverpool.

At noon, uniformed sections of the Al Koran delegation were lunched in the local Masonic temple. Broadway, while Chester Masons served the uniformed units of the Osiris temple from Wheeling. The Pittsburgh contingent enjoyed luncheon aboard its special train.

News reel photographers from two companies were here to film the event. Fox sent a detachment of five men in charge of a movie-ton outfit. Paramount had a cameraman on the ground.

Following the disbandment of the parade in lower Washington street this afternoon, massed band concert was given in front of the East Liverpool Masonic temple, after which Shriners boarded special cars for Rock Springs park for the secret ink. (Continued on Page 8, Column 4)

PLANES HUNT FOR MISSING FLYERS

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 29.—With the airport here as a base several planes today will take part in the search for M. M. Merrill, manager of Cur's field, and Edward Ronne, manager of the Buffalo municipal airport who vanished in Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's Curtiss Falcon plane after taking off from Buffalo late Monday afternoon. The search will cover parts of two states—New York and Pennsylvania.

THEATERS GIVE WAGE RAISES

Twenty Percent Increases is Granted All Workers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Pay increases for all classifications of its members employed by Chicago theatres are in effect today as a result of a new agreement forced from the Chicago Theatre Managers association yesterday by the musicians union, under leadership of James C. Petrillo.

Under the new schedules put into effect by the agreement, regular musicians in the loop theatres will receive $90 a week instead of the $77.08 of the last two year contract.

Extra musicians, instead of receiving $85.09 as their scale, will be paid during the coming year at the rate of $99 a week. Regular musicians in the burlesque houses and the vaudeville organizations will be paid $87.44 instead of $82.44.

In addition the musicians forced an agreement that motion picture houses employing the sound producing devices, must use a minimum of six musicians in their orchestras.

The Pact Is Signed.

Jersey for Smith Says Hague.
Helen Wills Is For Hoover.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

THE Kellogg peace pact is signed. What will the United States do with it?

Germany signed first, and Briand, brilliant Frenchman, spoke cordially of Stresemann, the German statesman, and praised Secretary Kellogg, calling Woodrow Wilson Mr. Kellogg's "illustrious forerunner."

Briand supposed the pact was signed in France, "thanks to her constant effort in the cause of peace."

The constant efforts of Napoleon I and Napoleon III were not exactly in the cause of peace. But they represented their own vanity, not the real French people.

THAT peace pact, for the "renunciation of war," is sincerely meant. If it has no strings, attaching us to the league of nations, it will be acceptable to the American people.

But they will notice that Europe's armies today are bigger than in 1913 before the Great War.

THREE million men are under arms in Europe now; other hundreds of thousands have been called to the colors for training. Swift mobilization is practiced.

France has 686,000 men under arms; Italy 347,000; England 408,000. Germany and Russia alone have reduced—Germany from 800,000 to 100,000; Russia from 1,200,000 to 900,000.

There is plenty of powder ready for the match. This country should think of preparation besides talking of sweet peace.

MR. W. C. DURANT, automobile manufacturer, who believes prohibition a good thing, offers $25,000 for the best essay, not longer than 2,000 words, telling how to enforce the Eighteenth amendment.

Mr. Durant, paraphrasing Abraham Lincoln, wonders whether our "institutions can endure with a citizenship half law-abiding and half lawless?"

The answer is "yes, it can."

The prosperous class has usually done much as it pleased. It doesn't break little laws about pocket picking and stealing. It doesn't need to.

It not only breaks but despises and teaches its children to despise a prohibition law that interferes with its pleasure.

If lawmakers really meant to enforce prohibition, which they don't mean, they would make purchase of alcoholic drinks a felony, punished by imprisonment and heavy fine, giving to be divided by bootleggers giving information, the informers going scot free.

Respectability is willing to break the law with the aid of a bootlegger, but wouldn't run the risk of being blackmailed by the bootlegger afterward.

PROHIBITION can be enforced if a majority of the people want it. If they don't want it, it cannot be enforced.

Changing a people's habits by law is not easy. The old French king could not even prevent his subjects wearing shoes with toes so long that they had to be bent backward and upward and tied to their knees.

12 REMAIN IN BEAUTY CONTEST

"Miss Ohio" to be Chosen at Cedar Point Tonight.

CEDAR POINT, O., Aug. 29.—Twelve Ohio girls, winners of beauty contests in their respective towns, today remained in the Miss Ohio bathing beauty contest here, following the first elimination selections last night.

"Miss Ohio" will be chosen tonight. The 12 survivors from the original 30 contestants are: Nohrinne Shrick, Bucyrus; Josephine Crimm, Sidney; Helen Melching, Steubenville; Mary Helen Maddex, Uhrichsville; Reva Miller, Zanesville; Hettybell Fell, Kent; Grace Woods, Akron; Emma, dees Graham, Indian Lake; Martha Lewis, Sebring; Virginia Sweet, Cedar Point; Velva Harrington, Alliance, and Sayde Fisher, Toledo.

Miss Yvonne Boston, Fremont, was the favorite of the large crowd present at the elimination contest last night. Last year Miss Boston was disqualified for professionalism and she was eliminated this year for the same reason.

APPOINTMENT OF ORGANIZER APPROVED BY BIG MAJORITY

Potters Reject $1,000 Raises for Three Officers.

TWO REFERENDUMS

Labor Chiefs Decline to Discuss Results of Vote.

Members of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, representing approximately 7,500 workers in the general ware and sanitary ware branches of the industry, are reported to have approved the appointment of a national organizer and rejected proposed salary increases for three national officers at a special referendum election, which ended last Saturday.

Brotherhood officials today declined to verify or deny the reports that one of the propositions had been approved while the other was turned down. James M. Duffy, president of the organization, claimed that the vote on the two proposals had not been officially tabulated.

The proposal, approved at the 38th annual convention of Brotherhood representatives, calling for the appointment of a full-time, paid organizer, to be named by the executive board, is reported to have been approved by a big majority. Salary of the organizer will be $2,500 per year and hotel and railroad expenses.

The president, first vice-president and secretary-treasurer, which offices are now held by James M. Duffy, George H. Cartledge and John D. McGilivray, respectively, would be benefited by the proposed $1,000 per year increases. The present salary of the president is $3,500 per year while the first vice president, who has charge of the eastern Brotherhood office in Trenton and the secretary-treasurer, whose office is at national headquarters in East Liverpool, is $3,300 each.

This resolution also was approved at the annual convention held here in July, but was conditional upon acceptance by members of the Brotherhood members. Sponsors of the salary raising plan argued that the increase would bring the salaries on a level with that paid heads of other labor organizations of a similar membership size.

Meeting of the Brotherhood executive board will be held within the next couple of weeks when the new organization will be named. His appointment will be for a term of one year.

CHARGE NEGRO WITH MURDER

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Aug. 29.—A second degree murder charge had been filed here today against George Benjamin, 24, negro, for the alleged murder of his sweetheart, Beatrice Herper, 25, whom he is accused of slaying at Black Oak, a mining settlement near here Monday.

Benjamin was found hiding in a clump of bushes 12 hours after the murder when he returned to see if "she was dead," according to county officials.

He is held without bond in the county jail.

Council Votes Confidence in Work of Crusading Legislator.

AKRON, O., Aug. 19.—Ora Slater, of Cincinnati, Ohio's most famous detective, is to be brought here to assist in running down the desperadoes who are attempting to murder Councilman Kyle Ross, special investigator of vice and crime conditions in Akron, it became known today.

What is regarded as the third plot to assassinate Ross came to light last night after a stormy meeting of city council. A revolver, loaned the councilman by Deputy Sheriff Leslie Mange, was stolen from his automobile while he was in the council meeting. Ross discovered the loss when he returned to his automobile and was accompanied home by a police guard.

Detective Chief Ed. McDonnell said the would-be assassins probably plan (Continued on Page 8, Column 4)

WALKER NAMED CHAIRMAN OF COUNTY G. O. P. ORGANIZATION

County Auditor Winner Over Willis Davidson by 59-29 Vote.

MEET AT LISBON

Joseph T. Croxall, East Liverpool Re-elected Committee Treasurer

County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, Damascus, chairman of the county Republican central committee since the death of the late Charles E. Hamilton, was re-elected for another term at a meeting of Republican central committeemen held in common pleas court No. 1, Lisbon, last night.

Out of a total of 88 votes cast Mr. Walker received 59 to 29 cast for Willis Davidson of East Liverpool. There are 105 central committeemen in the county, and of this number there were 16 absentees and two vacancies reported.

Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, East Liverpool offered a motion to make the election unanimous and this ballot was cast by Secretary L. H. Johnson, Lisbon, who was also re-elected without opposition.

Joseph T. Croxall, East Liverpool, was re-elected treasurer, and his report disclosed a balance of $1,451.82 remaining since the last campaign. The name of Mr. Croxall was placed in nomination by W. H. Barlow, East Liverpool.

The name of Mr. Walker for county chairman was placed in nomination by Perry Allen, East Palestine, and he was supported by Harry V. George, Lisbon.

John F. Kerr, Salineville, former county commissioner placed the name of Mr. Davidson before the meeting and he was supported by Thomas H. Stephens, East Liverpool.

Mrs. Kate Dewees of Salem was elected vice-chairman, her name being placed in nomination by S. S. Weaver of Columbiana. There was no opposition to this office.

"I have been asked several times since I arrived here tonight if I was going to be a candidate at the November election for probate judge," Attorney Homer W. Hammond, Columbiana, said in addressing the meeting. "I want to say here and now that I'm not a candidate—I'm for Judge Riddle and I'll do all I can to re-elect Judge Riddle as well as every effort I can put forward to elect the entire Re-

Sweeping Investigation Into Expense of Primary Candidates is Launched by Turner

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 29.—Attorney General Edward C. Turner today launched an investigation of campaign expense accounts recently filed by political candidates with Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown.

The purpose of this probe, it was stated, is to determine, if possible, whether any of the candidates for state offices, or their supporters, violated the Buckeye state's corrupt practices act during the pre-primary campaign which ended August 14.

Complying with a request from Turner, the secretary of state's office today turned over to the attorney general the numerous expense accounts. It was understood that the attorney general's probe was prompted by complaints submitted to him by various persons who declared that a number of expense accounts, seemingly, bore the earmarks of law viola-

Police Nab Medium On Statutory Charge

THREE RECKLESS DRIVERS NABBED

Three automobile drivers were charged with reckless operation in municipal court of Judge J. C. Hanley today.

Trial of Sam Greathouse, who was charged by Miss Mildred Voss with having his automobile parked in the Lincoln highway August 11 while driving recklessly, was set for 9:30 o'clock Friday morning.

Ronald Woerner, arrested by Patrolman Leslie Curran, on charge of reckless operation, was fined $10 and costs.

Wilbert Hertel, Salineville, was scheduled to appear in court today on a similar charge, preferred by Patrolman Curran. Hertel narrowly avoided running down two street department men in West Sixth street, Curran reported.

Wagavanandi and Minnie Stephens, 23, Mobile, Ala., who, police say, have been living as man and wife in the Jefferson street house for three weeks, are held in city jail in default of $100 bail set for each by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley while police investigate other possible criminal activities of the oriental mystic.

Wagavanandi's last spiritual meeting was held Monday night. When police were informed of his activities, they started an investigation which ended with the arrest of the pair last night by Captain Mason Conley and Patrolman Smith. Hearing for both will be held before Judge Hanley at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Miss Stephens told Captain Conley during questioning that she had come here from her Mobile home with the Indian after he had promised her marriage. Wagavanandi, however, refused to fulfill his promise when they reached East Liverpool, she said.

Wagavanandi's criminal record in Ohio extends as far back as 1916, as Hannibal Slade, he spent two years in the Ohio state reformatory (Continued on Page 8, Column 1)

"Candidates Day" Will Be Observed Tomorrow.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 29.—Old Sol took a hand in Ohio's yearly classic which cut the second day attendance down more than 2,000 in comparison with last year's total for the second day. Yesterday's 46,286 was second only to last year's 48,504.

The intense rays from the sun were to blame for five prostrations who were treated in the Red Cross first aid hospital. Mrs. Coe McGee, nurse at the Columbus State hospital, was removed to her quarters at the hospital, following a diagnosis of her case which revealed summer flu, induced by the intense heat.

William I. Wargo, Columbus, was temporarily blinded from after effects of sleeping sickness. He proceeded to his home after receiving first aid. Mrs. Paul Ramsey, Cedarville, left for her home after being treated for heat prostration. Mrs. Hazel Hohenstein, Kingston, a victim of heat, was removed to her home after medical attention. Mrs. W. E. Straits, Ashland, was treated for heat prostration. Mrs. Joseph Eagan, Greenfield, was removed to Grant hospital for observation. She was suffering from a high fever.

Although the heat indicator registered 94, a new high for this week, the program moved on, undaunted by Sol's efforts to make the fair a "hot one." Vendors of cooling drinks were doing a gulping business.

East Liverpool — America's Pottery Center.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1928.

Welcome, Nobles!

East Liverpool today is the Mecca for Masonry of three states—Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Headed by Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones, of Houston, Texas, a guest of honor, and the chieftains of three temples in the tri-state district, 5,000 members of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, invaded the Ceramic City for a ceremonial in which 100 candidates will be initiated.

Chester, East Liverpool's West Virginia neighbor, joined with people of the pottery center of America, in greeting the red fazed Nobles of Al Koran, Syria and Osiris temples of Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Wheeling, tripling the Shrine, which is known as the playground of Masonry. National colors blended with the red, orange, and green of the lodge in the decorations displayed in honor of the visitors.

Cheers and applause from men, women and children of all races and creeds as the uniformed lodge members marched in a street parade which preceded the ritualistic work at Rock Springs park gave proof of the warm place which the Shriners have in the hearts of the people of the two cities which are honored by their presence.

East Liverpool and Chester, noted for their hospitality, joyously hail the members of an organization which is founded upon the broad grounds of benevolence and charity. And these principles are exemplified by the Shrine in its maintenance of hospitals for crippled children who are admitted without restriction as to the parent's religion, race or fraternal affiliations.

Welcome, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine!

Drinking by Americans Abroad

That there is an appreciable decrease in the drinking of Americans abroad of wines and hard liquors was one of the interesting bits of information given New York City dock reporters by Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union, when she returned on the last westward trip of the George Washington from attendance at the world congress of the union held in Lausanne, Switzerland.

So marked has been the change in the drinking habits of Americans traveling in Europe, Mrs. Boole said, that it is not only recognized by those who cater to the traveling public, but also by Europeans generally. She told the reporters that where formerly it was difficult to get a glass of drinking water on the "continent," carafes of water are now seen everywhere on the tables in hotels, restaurants and dining cars, and she noted a great increase in tea-drinking.

American tourists, the temperance leader went on to say, indulge in other drinks beside tea and coffee, but there is far less drinking of intoxicating liquors than there had been on the occasions of former visits to Europe made by her.

It may be said, in this connection, that the observations of Mrs. Boole are very generally confirmed by other Americans returning from European visits, save possibly those who go over in large part to satisfy their liking for alcoholics. The latter class naturally spend much of their time in places where the serving of drinks is a specialty and naturally their views would be that there has been no shrinkage in the volume of liquor consumed by Americans abroad.

Assuming that Mrs. Boole is right in her view, and it may be accepted on the strength of collateral testimony as a safe assumption, what may we take this change in the course of Americans in regard to the consumption of intoxicants to indicate?

What else than that the great body of Americans who travel abroad have gotten away from the habit of drinking intoxicants? What else but that they have become so accustomed to going without intoxicants that they have no desire to drink them when they are at hand and may be legally consumed?

It is always possible, of course, that many Americans drink far more water than formerly and that those who formerly drank intoxicants and now drink water feel better for the change. If they do not note something of an improvement in a physical way as a result of the substitution of water as a beverage for intoxicants it would be something of a miracle.

In any event, no matter what the reason may be, there is no question but what Americans traveling abroad, regardless of their habits at home, are drinking less wine and hard liquors and are consuming more water than formerly, which may be taken to indicate that a lot of them aren't really so desirous of drinking as they thought they were and are becoming accustomed to the change in conditions, and this must be taken as a distinct gain for the cause of temperance.

Consider Labor's Advantage

If there are still those who do not fully appreciate the enormous advantages which American labor has over foreign labor, let him consider that for the work which brings an American bricklayer $12.56, the Belgian bricklayer gets only $1.32; that for the work which brings the American carpenter $10.16, the Italian carpenter receives only $1.82, the German carpenter only $1.86, and the Belgian carpenter only $1.36; that work for which brings the American laborer in the building trades $4, the Italian laborer in the same field gets only 80 cents, and the German laborer only $1.47; that for every $2.36 paid to the American farmhand, the French farmhand gets $1.05 and the German farmhand 56 cents—for identical work.

This margin of advantage is the direct result of the American protective system, fostered and advocated by the Republican party ever since its organization. If the tariff principle advocated in opposition to the Republican tariff was to become operative this margin would be largely wiped out, and American wage levels would decline to meet those of Europe and Asia.

In years to come the chances are the immodest bathing suit will be the one made up completely of transparent axle grease. And it won't be nearly so much fun to teach a girl to swim.

In the current campaign the hue and the cry has been raised that the people no longer own the money. But what difference does that make? The two thousand you got at the bank probably is Henry's out doing chores.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 29.—Although the idea has been frequently broached, Washington still is lacking in a national hall of archives with the result that documents and articles of profound interest remain scattered and largely unknown. It is now thought likely, however, that with the completion of the several new department buildings, the preparations for which have been begun, there will be a general overhauling of the collections. At such time it is expected that the articles will be placed on public exhibition.

These collections have resulted from the experiences of the various departments. Perhaps the one of greatest national interest is in the hands of the war department. It consists of quite a substantial number of cards bearing the names of famous officers of the Revolutionary army. These signatures are subscribed to the oath of allegiance. The cards themselves were made out by General Washington during the bitter winter when the army was encamped at Valley Forge. General Washington framed the oath and required all of his officers to subscribe to it. The cards constituted a sort of index to the commissioned personnel of the Revolutionary forces.

It is interesting to note that one of the cards bears the signature of General Benedict Arnold, who later turned traitor and went to England, serving in the British army. The existence of this collection of cards is known to but few people and is jealously guarded by war department officials. Indeed, the national museum and the manuscript division of the library of congress would both like to have the cards but the war department takes the position that as they are military records they belong in the war department files.

Another collection of great interest is in possession of the state department. This is a more miscellaneous assortment, containing, in fact such things as garments, oil paintings, foreign decorations, gold watches, and many others. The constitution of the United States forbids officials of the United States government to accept gifts from foreign princes or states. This was written into the constitution because, the republic being in the nature of an experiment and the new nation just having wrenched free from monarchical rule, it was feared something like bribery might be attempted by old world rulers in an effort to subvert the upstart republicans.

In consequence no gift may be accepted save with the express consent of congress. American naval captains, members of the coast guard and life saving services, and other men in the pay of the United States have effected many rescue of foreigners who, desiring to recognize the services, have awarded decorations, watches, cups, or even monetary grants. These are sent to the state department for delivery but may not be so delivered until congress has consented. Sometimes congress takes so long to adopt the needed resolution that the man for whom the award is intended has either passed away or left the service and can not be found. So, over the years, quite a collection of such articles has accumulated and the state department remains in possession.

Included in the state department collection are some kimonos and robes of state, all of exquisite workmanship and material which were presented to the department by the first Japanese mission which came to the United States after the opening up of Japan by Commodore Perry. State swords and fans are among the Japanese articles. They were intended as a gesture of good will and an exhibit of Japanese workmanship.

Not long ago, purely by accident, some valuable documents were discovered in a loft of old treasury. There were two invaluable finds. One consisted of a file of correspondence between Andrew Jackson and Secretary of the Treasury Lane. It was, of course, all written in long hand. Some letters were written in Jackson's own hand and others had been written by an amanuensis, being merely signed by Jackson. The letters dealt with the famous Bank of the United States controversy, one of the principal issues of Jackson's presidency.

The other discovery was an annual report of Albert Gallatin who was secretary of the treasury during the War of 1812. Gallatin was a very old man. His annual report, however, was written in his own hand, a very shaky one. It dealt with the national finances. The few pages this report covers compares with the substantial volume required to print current annual reports of secretaries of the treasury much as the small sums of money handled by the treasury in those days compares with the billions in which Secretary Mellon deals.

It will be remembered that only recently was the original Declaration of Independence enshrined in a specially constructed glass case in the library of congress. Therefore it had been in the custody of the state department.

A collection of more recent date is in possession of the United States shipping board. During the war the board trained and put at work some six hundred supercargoes. A special school was established and there the young men were given an intensive course in the duties of supercargo. Then they set forth in charge of the loads of shipping board vessels.

Questions And Answers

By Frederick J. Haskin.

Did you ever write a letter to Frederick J. Haskin? You can ask him any question of fact and get the answer in a personal letter. Here is a great educational idea introduced into the lives of the most intelligent people in the world—American newspaper readers. It is a part of that best of all things—a newspaper—service. There is no charge except two cents in coin or stamps for return postage. Address Frederick J. Haskin, Director, the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Q. Please give a list of DX stations. C. M.
 A. There is no such list. DX is a term used simply to designate distant stations. A man is said to be "DX'ing" when he is trying to get distant stations late at night when the nearer stations are off.

Q. What is the size of our detached territories as compared to given American states? J. H.
 A. The area of Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, Wake and Midway Islands is equal to that of seven American states as follows: Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Idaho, Utah and Arizona.

Q. Why is the air around large waterfalls charged with electricity? M. E. S.
 A. Where drops of water are broken into spray there is a separation of positive from negative electricity. The water retains the former and the adjacent air acquires the latter.

Its lines are modernistic, while set in the opaque handle is an amber panel through which a replica of one's favorite pet is shown. NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 29.—Approaching Albuquerque, one comes upon the picturesque ruins of prehistoric civilizations. There are stretches of foundations and broken walls of communal buildings—the first of American apartment houses. It is one of the most colorful cities in the union.

One sees the squat adobe houses with their windows and doors painted the green and pink of poisonous wall paper, Indians in their spring wagon seated by the side of their shawled and complacent burros, herds of goats, cactus-eating queros, papposes in shoulder bags, and circling buzzards.

And the train thunders into the spreading station of Albuquerque with its terraced plots of brightly tinted flowers, modern flappers, camera slung tourists in plus fours, Indian rug, pottery and bow and arrow sellers—all like a sudden mirage in the desert.

The altitude is 4,500 feet and the air is dry and heady like tangy wine. Meeting every train are tubercular convalescents, bright-eyed with the hope of seeing someone from home to relieve the monotony of their isolation. The city's population is near 40,000.

A few miles from town are Indian pueblos—cliff dwellers, snake dancers and sun worshippers living precisely as they did years before the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock. There is an ineffable sadness about their shy yet enticing hospitality toward their conquerors.

Attracted by a beautifully colored clay vase, I inquired of the bronzed salesman his price. There was the despair of utter resignation in his "Behave what you like. It no matter." Little Indian children with folk skirts and plaited hair, too, sit about in dull apathy.

In their glorious days, Albuquerque was the hub of the Indian country. They fashioned towns and cities with stone houses four stories high, irrigated fields and built ditches with the precision of skilled engineers.

Then the white man came. And today they are almost aliens in their own land.

Gallup, N. M., is one of the high points along the old Santa Fe trail. The air is so light that during an influenza epidemic several years ago the town was almost decimated. It has often been seen in moving pictures as the locale for those wild western frontier dramas. Roaming wild dogs come down from the hills for scraps from the diners and sniff disdainfully at my poor little frightened city-bred pooch. He never looked such a cissie before.

The only faux pas so far on the trip was in noticing the sign: "Dangerous to lean out the windows," after I had done my leaning.

Arizona's distant back grounds of beauty unroll beyond Gallup. Puffs of white clouds laze through skies of lazuli. And there are endless miles of dry river beds. Scattered across the desert waste are primitive houses whose open doors and windows reveal bright walls of coral, lemon yellow and orange. Sandy cliffs rise to majestic grandeur and fall away to endless vistas of sage brush and alkali dust. And of which sounds as though it might have been taken from a descriptive railroad folder. And maybe it was.

Flagstaff is a western town running true to scenario and wild story writing form. It has its wide main street facing the railroad depot with its commercial hotel, pool hall, bank, Bright Angel short order restaurant, curbstone hitching racks, spurs, chaps, neck bandanas, legs curved to the saddle and exposed six-shooters.

Tonight we cross the desert with its mysterious silence and creeping shadows. And tomorrow morning we will be among the blooming flowers and snow-capped peaks of southern Calif. What, no climate?

Other Editors Say

While it is no secret that in contests for governorships and the presidency the sky is usually the ceiling for campaign spending, in spite of a corrupt practices law which no one observes, there has been a squander in purely local contests whose sum is hardly short of the spending in state and national campaigns. For example there is a public scandal at Toledo over the vast sums blown in by candidates who wanted to be nominated for sheriff of Lucas county. Although this office pays a salary of less than $10,000 a year, it is claimed that some of the candidates blew in upward of $50,000 apiece to acquire the job. It is apparent that in that bootlegging paradise there are perquisites which bring a princely reward to a sheriff who will listen to reason and permit lawbreaking rings to put a few more kinks in to the Volstead law.

If Senator Reed's recent defeat for the presidential nomination has not taken away his zeal for probing into the "orgs of campaign squander," his investigating committee might do well to take account of the rumors that are proceeding from Toledo. By all accounts political conditions there are as turgid and tainted as the lower reaches of the Maumee river.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Estimates have placed the number of hay fever sufferers in the United States at a million or more. Possibly too few, by eight or nine millions. When we say hay fever at this period autumnal fever is really meant. The phrase gives the ailment a poetic flavor.

Today, as nearly as a definite date can be fixed, persons susceptible to this annual physical annoyance begin to have a distorted vision of at least six weeks of intermittent sneezing, accompanied by sore throat and a bronchial cough. Eyes are particularly susceptible, and the patient becomes "the child of misery, baptized in tears!"

There are drugs that afford temporary relief, but most sufferers from autumnal fever have yet to find an absolute cure. Eventually the laboratories will discover a remedy through inoculation. That is the present hope and a future possibility. Immunity is the great desire.—Toledo Blade.

You gain nothing by your antagonistic attitude.

As long as you must associate with certain people every day, you should be sensible enough to smother or change your feelings for those in the same group.

Dislike and hatred both leave marks on your soul that cannot be eradicated.

It is hard to do good work when you are annoyed by the proximity of persons you loathe.

Why entertain personal feelings against those with whom you must work?

You ought to school yourself to do good work regardless of who is near.

If you have not enough self-control to forget personalities during working hours, you are neither wise nor happy in your job.

You can't change other people, but you can change yourself.

BRIDE-ELECT IS HONOR GUEST AT LUNCHEON BRIDGE PARTY AT SALEM

Miss Ruth Manor is Entertained by Group of Friends at Quaker Inn, Yesterday Afternoon.

A pretty luncheon bridge party was given yesterday afternoon at Quaker Inn, Salem, when Mrs. James R. Hill entertained a group of friends honoring Miss Ruth Elizabeth Manor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Manor of Avondale street, whose engagement to John S. Robb III, son of Attorney and Mrs. John S. Robb Jr. of Carnegie, Pa., has been announced. A color scheme of green and yellow was carried out in the appointments, with lighted candles and summer flowers. The place cards were dainty wristlets to which the tallies were attached. Covers were arranged for 54 guests. Bridge formed the afternoon diversion, trophies being awarded. Mesdames William L. Gardner, John S. Goodwin and Paul V. Robinson. A guest gift was presented Miss Manor. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Kenneth Sebring and Miss Doris Sebring of Sebring; Miss Gretchen Zange of Alliance; Miss Virginia Sharpe of Steubenville; Mrs. Earl E. Burgher of Cleveland, and Mrs. Frederick Mountford of Fortress Monroe, Va.

Maccabees Entertained.
Members of the Jolly club of the Maccabees were entertained last night in the home of Mrs. Alice Lucas on Dresden avenue. Euchre and 500 were the diversions, trophies being awarded Mesdames Mary Russell and Sylvia Maloney for euchre, and Miss Anna Blake for 500.

Mrs. Wilma Mort was taken into the club as a new member. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Wilda Neal. Guests of the club were: Mrs. Thomas Smith and Mrs. William Lucas of this city; Mrs. Emma Black of Philadelphia; Mrs. Frank Rinker and daughters, Betty and Maxine, and Miss Anna Blake of Orbisonia, Pa.

The next meeting will be held September 11 at the home of Mrs. Nettie Talbert, St. Clair avenue.

Miss Edith Bowen Entertains.

Miss Edith Bowen entertained the Fidelity group of the Girl's Friendly Society of St. Stephen's Episcopal church with a lawn party at her home on Pleasant Heights, last night. Business session was held, with Miss Edna Betts presiding. Dancing and juvenile games were the diversions of the social hours, after which refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. James Bowen, and Miss Edna Simpson.

Easy as telling time

LEARN to read your ELECTRIC meter, for really it is no more difficult than reading the time.

Begin at the left hand dial and read on each dial the last figure which the pointer has passed remembering that the hands on adjacent dials revolve in opposite directions. When a hand is on nine or zero especial care must be taken that the next higher dial is read properly for the hand will appear to have reached the next number but will not really do so until the hand on nine has reached zero.

Here you have an analogy with your watch—with both hands at eleven the time is not 11:55 but 10:55.

To get the amount of electricity used in any period of time it is necessary to subtract the reading at the beginning of the period from the reading at the end of the period.

20,000 Will Attend County Picnic Here

Many Features Have Been Arranged for Outing Which Will be Held at Rock Springs Park
Saturday.

Plans have been made to handle 20,000 persons at the annual Hancock county picnic which will be held Saturday at Rock Springs park, according to an announcement made today by park officials. Attendance last year was reduced owing to the infantile paralysis ban which prevented parents to bring their children to the grounds.

Number of interesting features have been arranged including a series of old time dances, harmonica playing, an old fiddlers contest and a combination hog, cow, horse, chicken and husband calling contest. The dancing event will be held in the open air circus platform. Although the contest is open to all, judges will be instructed to give special consideration to those over 40 years old. Judges will be named by park management.

Two prizes will be awarded: Five dollars for the best couple and $20 for the best set of four couples.

The judges decision will be based on accuracy of step, time, grace, quality of leadership and in the square dance great consideration will be given the cooperation of the couples and will be final. Smoothness of action in the set and the ability to quickly and skillfully interpret the call will also be watched in the latter dance.

The management suggests that sets be organized in the various communities before coming to the park, but there will be no objection to sets organized spontaneously.

Old fiddlers contest on the same platform will be judged on accuracy, tonal quality, carrying power and inspiration of the playing. A first prize of $5.00 and a second prize of $3.00 will be awarded to the winning players. Choice of music is left to the musician and he may play alone or may have an accompanist on the piano. Three minutes will be allowed to each player.

Entrances in the harmonica contest may be of any age or sex. Like the contestants in the old fiddlers' contest, the harmonica players may choose their own selection, play either with or without accompaniment and will be limited to three or five minutes according to the size of the entry list. They will be judged on the same standard as the fiddlers.

In the calling contest the callers will all compete on platform. Quality of voice, carrying power, uniqueness of call and results shown by the audience's applause will determine the winners. First prize in the calling contest will be $5.00 and the second will be $1.00.

Persons desiring to enter any of the contests will receive application blanks by writing to C. C. Macdonald in care of Rock Springs park.

Levies Fixed Here.

Tax levies for the fiscal year were laid last night at special meetings of the board of education and city council. Rates practically remain the same as last year.

Although the number of silkworm eggs taken into Italy this year was lower than last, plentiful feeding of mulberry leaves has caused the worms to produce a greater amount of silk than in 1927.

MIDLAND COLORED WOMAN IN JAIL CHARGED WITH SHOOTING HER LOVER

NEW LIBRARIAN IS NAMED HERE

Miss Beatrice Brudge to Assume Duties
This Week.

Beatrice Brudge

MIDLAND, Pa., August 29.—Miss Beatrice Brudge, of Fredonia, N. Y., who is expected to arrive here late this week to become librarian of the merged Carnegie and Lincoln high school libraries.

Miss Brudge, who is the daughter of the president of Fredonia State Teachers' college, graduated last June from Elmira State Teachers' college. She also has taken work in the Fredonia school, University of Syracuse and University of California. Until recently she held the post of assistant librarian of the Fredonia State Teachers' college.

She will succeed Mrs. Ralph Wick, Virginia avenue, who has been Carnegie librarian here for 11 years.

Among the changes planned for the library this year are earlier opening hours and more extensive use of the reference department by Lincoln high school pupils. General public will also be benefited by the earlier opening hours.

CLEAR DEBRIS IN COLLAPSE OF BUILDING

Death List is Six in North Carolina Tragedy.
PROBE ORDERED
National Guard Unit on Duty to Stop Pilfering.

SHELBY, N. C., Aug. 29.—With the first streaks of dawn, rescue crews cleared away today the last bit of debris on the site of the collapsed First National bank building and the death toll in the catastrophe remained at six.

Under the glare of automobile searchlights, a crew of 200 men, some of them relatives of the victims, toiled throughout the night to ascertain whether any additional persons were caught under the deluge of stone and timber.

The death toll, at one time thought to have been eight, was reduced when two men who were seen buried under the fallen structure were reached and found to be unconscious but still alive. A crew of negroes working in the basement at the time of the collapse, thought to have been killed, were rescued during the night.

As this little town prepared to bury its dead, Mayor Doney ordered an investigation of the cause of the crash. The probe, which probably will be headed by the police chief in the absence of the town building inspector, was set to start today.

The list of seriously injured stood at 15. Among these was George Blanton, acting vice-president of the bank and several bank employees. None of the injured was expected to die. They were all being treated at a local hospital.

The building, which housed the First National bank temporarily, a grocery store and Tailor's Shop, was owned by O. Max Gardner, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, who happened to be standing in front of his office nearby when the crash came. Property damage was estimated at $50,000.

The collapse apparently was caused by an excavation work in progress under an adjoining building. J. S. McKnight, the owner, was having a basement dug in which to operate a bowling alley. An excavation approximately 50 feet long and 30 feet wide was being made under the building.

Throughout the night curiosity seekers were held back by the local unit of the national guard called to preserve order and to thwart a possible in accordance of theft which took place earlier in the day when an unidentified man made away with a hand full of bills before the shrieks of the injured had died away. It was thought that the thief obtained not more than a few hundred dollars.

CROPS SUFFER FROM DROUGHT

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 29.—Although there were showers over the state during the week ending August 28, they were too light to be generally beneficial to the crops as a whole, especially in the western part of the state where droughty conditions prevail, according to the weatherman, Alexander, here.

Good progress was made in field operations generally and the haying and threshing of grain are practically completed the completed reports show. The yield of oats is fair but the quality is rather poor in certain localities while corn is making satisfactory progress and in good condition, especially the early planted, according to the bureau.

The other crops, such as potato, tomato, fruit, garden, and tobacco, are maturing nicely the report indicated. A heavy general rain would be beneficial to the corn crop and to pastures, especially the latter, which is deteriorating for lack of rain.

PARTY LEADER CANCER VICTIM

GALLIPOLIS, O., Aug. 29.—Funeral arrangements were being completed today for John H. Shalleross, 73, prominent leader of the Democratic organization in Gallia county, who died here yesterday, a victim of cancer.

Shalleross, a druggist for 35 years, formerly served in that capacity in Columbus.

In 1920, Waganandi was sentenced to serve 34 days in Cleveland jail for vagrancy. He was sent to the Ohio penitentiary after being convicted of shooting to kill in Cuyahoga county under the alias of Wendell Phillips. Later he was paroled, but was not given final release until 1923.

Earlier this year he was arrested in Steubenville, where he is alleged to have maintained a "temple" in Market street, on suspicion for obtaining money under false pretenses, practicing medicine without a license, and was charged with resisting an officer. He also operated police claim an extensive fortune-telling business and sold herb remedies on a large scale.

Steubenville police, who raided his "temple," reported finding scores of letters from women.

Police also confiscated a diploma issued in Chicago declaring that Waganandi was a "professor" of magic by alchemy and fire. Waganandi declared that he was born in Timnevelly, British India, and is of Parsee descent.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT HALTED

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Storms over the Atlantic caused the postponement of the latest attempt to span the ocean, which the French fliers Jean Asolant and Rene Le Fevre had planned to make today, after everything was in readiness for the start, the two youthful aviators were disappointed to find that weather conditions were unfavorable and announced the postponement.

JOHNSON WINS IN CALIFORNIA

Senator Carries Coast State in Landslide of Votes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Incomplete returns today show that Senator Hiram W. Johnson swept the state with a gigantic vote in yesterday's primary for renomination as the Republican candidate for United States senator.

His total majority is expected to run so high as to reach into the record class. Some precincts for instance in San Francisco gave a 60-1 count for the senator.

Los Angeles sent in a ratio of 3 to 1 or better, while Alameda county swung along the victor's path with a steady ratio of 6 to 1 in his favor.

Charles H. Randall of Los Angeles, former congressman, was the victim in this one-sided contest. Although Randall ran as a Republican, he is registered as a prohibitionist and ran in that party for the same office.

Randall also was opposed by Wiley J. Phillips for the prohibition nomination.

When assured of his nomination, Senator Johnson issued the following statement:

"I am extremely grateful to the people of the emphatic vote of confidence accorded to me in this primary. It is my hope and my aspiration that my future course may justify it. I look forward in our state to a really united Republican party in the coming campaign which will mean an overwhelming Republican victory in November."

HOOVER TALKS WITH HIS AIDES

G. O. P. Nominee to Guard Against Scandals.

By William S. Neal.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Herbert Hoover today shouldered responsibility, in part at least, for the prevention of scandals in the raising and spending of $4,000,000 in his campaign for the presidency by summoning J. R. Nutt of Cleveland, national party treasurer, and Jeremiah Milbank, eastern treasurer, before him for a report on their activities.

Republican nominee is declared by many of his aides to be extremely anxious to avoid anything that might bring about a repetition of the charges made against the Republican national committee following the Harding campaign, which resulted in a congressional investigation.

Hoover is understood to have insisted upon a complete budgeting of all expenditures and has urged Treasurer Nutt to raise his fund among as many people as possible. The institution of the small donation division is credit to Hoover personally.

At one time it was reported that Hoover would insist upon the campaign budget being limited to $3,000,000 the approximate amount spent in the Coolidge campaign. National committee heads, however, after completing a tentative budget declared that it would be necessary to set the goal a million dollars higher.

The charges of John J. Raskob, Democratic national treasurer, that the Republicans were seeking a "slush fund" were not taken seriously among Hoover's advisers today. Although Treasurer Nutt declared that "things are coming along fine" there have been persistent reports that collections are slow in coming in.

Canvassing the financial situation comprised only part of the activities of the nominee today. He also summoned James W. Good, western manager; Rep. Walter H. Newton, western speakers head and Rep. John Q. Tilson, head of the eastern speakers' bureau.

With this trio and National Chairman Hubert Work, Hoover tackled the problem of when and where he shall speak, and also how often. That he will do considerably more campaigning than was expected at the opening of the campaign is now apparent, but he will not resort to the stumping campaign methods of a decade or so ago.

Despite efforts to press him into immediate action, Hoover has decreed a short personal campaign. His own speaking tours, it is now pretty definitely determined, will be crowded into a period of seven weeks, and he will spend much of this time in Washington.

The fact that Hoover will be required to go back to California to cast his ballot will result in an extension of his stumping tours which was not counted on originally.

Yellow Cab Cuts Rates.
CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—Cleveland today found itself in the midst of a taxicab rate war. A sudden and substantial reduction of rates has been put into effect by the Yellow Cab company, with the announcement that three newly formed companies will invade the city with fleets of taxis.

Argentina expects to export more than 1,000,000 bushels of wheat this season.

RACKETEERS ARE WEALTHY

Philadelphia Grand Jury Probes Underworld Conditions.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—Operations of Philadelphia's liquor racketeers netted them $10,000,000 during the last year.

This became known as the special grand jury resumed its probe today into underworld conditions here. Detectives working under District Attorney John Monaghan uncovered evidence that 15 bootleggers had deposited this vast sum in 20 banks and trust companies here under fictitious names. The addresses given by the depositors were vacant lots, stables and warehouses.

The possibility that prominent Philadelphia men are involved in the huge deposits representing profits from the beer and booze industry here, was rumored in city hall today. District Attorney Monaghan declared he was not prepared to comment on this new development of the gang war investigation. One member of the bootlegging syndicate made lump deposits of thousands of dollars and his address was a vacant lot, Monaghan said.

New Jersey, and will get its electoral vote.

Mayor Hague ought to know, for with his organization he has carried New Jersey, electing governors and senators for many years.

HELEN WILLS is for Hoover, will vote for him, and work as head of the sports division in the "Women's Committee for Herbert Hoover."

That announcement offsets two or three large Wall Street men leaving the Republicans to join the Democrats.

If all those that admire the wonderful young California girl vote for Hoover, his plurality will make that of Mr. Coolidge look small.

MRS. COHAN, mother of a famous son, George M. Cohan, died yesterday. Thousands will sympathize with the brilliant and only survivor of the Cohan family who wrote the best war song, "Over There."

Those no longer young will remember that family united as the "Four Cohans," mother, father, daughter and son, happy together and making others happy.

THE Guaranty Trust company fears injury to business caused by the present high cost of money.

The statement coming from an authority should interest President Coolidge. The interest rate in Wall Street yesterday was 8 per cent. That is usury, and usurers should be jailed.

FINANCIAL institutions encouraged by the Federal Reserve Board, are openly practicing usury, driving control of the world's money market to England, threatening prosperity and gouging business men by a deliberate conspiracy to increase interest rates.

IF a lot of workmen formed against their employer such a conspiracy as financial institutions have formed against the business men of America some judge would quickly issue an injunction to restrain them.

But high finance is the government, to a large extent. And there is nothing in sight to restrain that usurious conspiracy.

publican ticket from Herbert Hoover for president down to Coroner Vau Fossan.

Attorney W. H. McCarty of Salem praised the entire Republican ticket, both national, state, district and county and said that it was "the duty of every Republican to see to it that every state north of the Mason-Dixon line went to Hoover. 'It's our duty to see that Al Smith does not carry a single state north of that line,' he said.

Former State Senator Asher A. Galbreath of Middleton township referred briefly, but with feeling the passing on of former county Republican leader, mentioning the name of Charles E. Hamilton, John J. Grafton and Dan Smith.

"The large gathering here tonight, the harmony displayed leads me to believe that the Republican party is more strongly united right now than at any time in the last 30 years," Mr. Galbreath suggested.

"I like those words of my good friend Homer Hammond," declared Attorney W. H. Vodrey of East Liverpool. "He said that although he lost he was for the winner. 'Mr. Vodrey urged that all Republicans 'stick and cling to your officials, and of necessity the central committee must be the leader.'"

S. S. Weaver of Columbiana declared that all who had the good of the party at heart should work at the proper time to get out the vote, suggesting that if this be done, that the party will achieve the success it deserves.

Chairman Walker after commending the group upon its united co-operation asked Mayor Wallace L. Fogo, Wellsville, to act as temporary chairman.

A resolution presented by Harry V. George and which was adopted provides that the chairman select an executive committee and other campaign committees, and from members of the county committee.

Albert Forney, East Palestine, offered a resolution supporting the entire Republican nation, state, district and county ticket, but this was amended on motion of Judge Hanley to include those Republicans on the state, district and county judicial ticket. The amendment and the resolution went on the record.

ENROLLMENT SHOWS DECREASE

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Aug. 9.—The coal strike is responsible for a 2,000 decrease in school enrollment for the fall term in Belmont county. It was declared here today by George Pogue, superintendent of schools.

"Scores of families have left the county," Pogue said, "so where they can procure work as a result of going forced into idleness here by the coal strike. Several schools will remain closed the coming term. In one school not one student was recorded in the pre-school check made this week."

SPEND MILLION TO CARRY WEST

Democrats Plan Active Drive for 10 Western States.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 29.—A million dollars to carry the middle-west, was the Democratic program for the great agricultural belt as nothing managers wound up today their three-day conference here with Smith Robinson warriors from ten states of the upper Mississippi valley battleground.

John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, outlined the party program today as he prepared to depart with his chief lieutenants for Hot Springs, Arkansas, for the notification ceremonies Thursday evening of Senator Joseph T. Robinson, the vice-presidential nominee.

"The national committee plans to spend $500,000 on the farm drive in the ten corn-belt states," Raskob said in summarizing the program approved by the regional conferences here. "There are 600 counties in these states and it is our plan to cooperate organizations in all of them. In addition we plan to operate organizations in these states about mid-September."

"Our reports here indicate that a majority of the newspapers throughout the agricultural section are normally Republican in policy. We shall therefore take other means to reach the voters with Governor Smith's vigorous advocacy of equality for agricultural."

Seldom if ever has a Democratic campaign been so thoroughly organized in the middle-west, according to Raskob. As evidence of the intensity of the farm drive he cited telegraphic reports from district leaders in 34 of the 40 congressional districts in the territory in this conference. The budget approved calls for an average outlay of a little less than $1,000 for each county in the region.

Although Raskob and his advisers concluded their meetings here in high enthusiasm over the Democratic outlook, there were four disquieting notes in the reports presented by the state managers. Oklahoma, Tennessee, Nebraska and Illinois present problems which are expected to require the help of the national committee, according to these reports.

ned to waylay and murder Ross while he was enroute home.

Ross twice offered to resign from his position as a one man investigating committee of crime conditions here, during yesterday's council meeting. This occurred when the council insisted on appointing Councilmen W. C. Workman, W. W. Miller, Dan Shelby and Edmund Rowe to assist him in his crime investigation. Workman has criticized his methods, Ross said, and the investigation would be hampered, he declared, if he did not have full cooperation.

The council refused to accept his resignation, however, and voted its confidence in him. After learning the pistol had been stolen from his car, Ross asserted:

"Now I have changed my mind about resigning and will stick to the last ditch."

Council also voted an appropriation of $1,000 to employ Slater, the detective who is chiefly credited with solving the Don Mellett murder. In addition, $200 was voted to employ a stenographer to assist Ross in his work of questioning witnesses.

Three men, two from Cleveland and one from Akron, arrested as suspected bootleggers last night, may be linked with the recent attempts on Ross' life. Detective Chief McDonnell said today.

tiation, about which the entire ceremonial centered.

Buffet dinner will be served to 5,000 Shriners in the park at 5:30 after the completion of the ceremonial. Special trains will leave Chester and the Ceramic City at 8:30 p. m.

Although East Liverpool's streets gave little promise of the brilliant tableau witnessed this afternoon until about 11:30 this morning when special trains began arriving, the hour between 11:30 and 12:30 witnessed the influx of thousands of Shriners both in uniform and civilian dress.

Official cars manned by Shriners wearing the regulation red fez with gold Shriners emblem and black tassels darted through traffic on various errands.

Moving picture cameramen in small trucks scurried up and down the streets seeking vantage points from which to film the parade.

Traffic throughout the downtown section was congested, though all available police and firemen were ordered out for traffic duty by Captain Mason Conley, acting police head.

Garage Owner Robbed.
Roy Burson, proprietor of an East End garage and automobile agency, reported to police that $130 in money was stolen from the pocket of his coat which was hanging in the garage yesterday. Patrolman Leslie Curran investigated the theft.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—New advances took place in the early trading today in most of yesterday's speculative favorites, including International Nickel, Consolidated Gas of New York, Macy, National Cash Register, Bethlehem Steel, American Can and Curtiss Aero. Bullish enthusiasm spread throughout the financial district as industrial stocks were given a whirl at the opening in one of the most vigorous upturns of the movement.

Wall Street has written the word "temporary" over the tight money situation and already predicts the date on which the purse strings are to be loosened. The September financing bill will be heavy, but practically all of the money spent for government and corporation account will return to the banks before the end of the month. The call loan renewal rate was 7 1/2 per cent, with some funds available at 7 per cent.

Buying orders flowed in such volume that the ticker fell 14 minutes behind the market in the first hour. Sweeping advances in the speculative favorites carried Curtiss Aero 4 points higher, to 119 1/2; International Nickel 3 points to a new high at 115 1/2; Macy 6 points; General Motors 1 1/2 to 196; Loose Wiles Bluet 2; Fox Film 2 1/2; Consolidated Gas of New York 2 3/4; Sears Roebuck 2. All of the statistical averages of representative stock prices are now at the highest levels in history and public confidence in security values was never more pronounced.

Forward movements in the amusement stocks continued in the second hour, with Paramount Famous Lasky up 4 points and other well known shares in this group about 2 points higher. General Motors topped 196 in early trading in this period.

ILLINOIS TOWN ROCKED BY BOMB

BERWYN, Ill., Aug. 29.—A terrific bomb explosion here today injured a woman and shattered windows for a radius of several blocks. The entire suburb of Chicago was aroused by the blast.

A delicatessen store, men's furnishing store, jewelry store and moving picture theatre bore the chief brunt of the explosion. It was not apparent at which building the blast was aimed.

A woman in the delicatessen store was knocked down by the force of the detonation and sustained minor injuries. The reason for the blast which was believed to have been a gigantic bomb, is unknown.

CALL TRACTION HEAD IN PROBE

Investigation Into Subway Wreck Launched in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Frank T. Hedley, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company was expected to be one of the first witnesses examined as District Attorney Joseph H. Banton, today opened a formal investigation of the Times Square subway wreck which cost the lives of sixteen persons.

Hedley and a score of other officers and employees of the subway company are expected to be subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury. It was said Banton's office. Experts from the Transit commission also will testify in an effort to fix the blame for the crash and start criminal prosecution against the guilty.

Meanwhile Banton was considering the newest theory that a faulty tripping lever on one of the cars had caused the crash. It was pointed out that a faulty lever would trip a light in the switching tower and cause the switch to be thrown before the entire train had passed over the switch.

THE NEW FRIGIDAIRE

You don't hear it start . . . You don't hear it stop
You don't hear it run

Don't miss the Special Demonstration
all this week

EVEN if you have only a few minutes to spare, don't put off any longer seeing the New Frigidaire, the latest development in automatic refrigeration.

See for yourself the conveniences that women everywhere are talking about. And above all check for yourself its incredibly quiet operation. You don't hear it start. You don't hear it stop. You don't hear it run.

The pre-tested
automatic refrigerator

That the New Frigidaire might be quiet, powerful, convenient, dependable, tests and experiments have been carried on for years. Sound-proof rooms were constructed. Delicate sound recording instruments were used. The New Frigidaire has operated for days in rooms with a temperature of 100° . . . in rooms filled with steam.

Extensive tests like these, coupled with the experience Frigidaire has gained in the production of more than 500,000 Frigidaires for actual service, make the New Frigidaire truly a pre-tested automatic refrigerator.

See the New Frigidaire for yourself . . . today. We want you to see how much time, work and worry the New Frigidaire will save. The special demonstration lasts all this week. For your convenience we are open each night until ten o'clock. But don't put it off. Come in or phone us today.

Missed His Train... Telephone Saves the Day

AN ADVERTISING MAN who had an important out-of-town appointment missed his train. He turned to his telephone and was able to transact his business with full satisfaction. The cost was little more than his taxicab fare to the station would have been.

No need to await emergencies to use out-of-town telephone service. It is available for any use you may desire—social or business—and you will find it always convenient, quick and inexpensive.

When you call by number, your calls usually go through while you hold the line, often in less than one minute. If you do not know the number of the distant telephone, ask for the Information operator.

For your convenience our business office will make up a directory of numbers in out-of-town points you frequently call.

The cost of out-of-town telephone service is surprisingly low, as the rates on a few typical calls will show. For instance, calling by number during the day from Columbus to Dayton costs only $.55—

Columbus to Cleveland, $.85.

Columbus to Indianapolis, $1.05.

Springfield to Detroit, $1.05.

Zanesville to Pittsburgh, $.75.

Steubenville to Columbus, $.85.

Columbus to New York, $2.30.

Dayton to Chicago, $1.35.

Laughlin Blanks Wellsville, 2-0, To Win City League Series

"Curly" Evans Hangs up His Third Straight Win

Lou Bubin Snares Cal Wagner's Hard Drive in Right With One on to Break up Visitors' Final Rally.

Losing their one grand opportunity to stay in the running when big Lou Bubin in right field speared, with a dazzling one-handed catch, Cal Wagner's hard hit drive that was headed toward the automobiles and a home run with one man ahead of him Wellsville City leaguers were blanked last night at Newell by Joe Dickey's West Virginia Potters, 2 to 0, in the fifth and final game of the 1928 league series.

With Curly Evans on the hilltop for the visitors, fighting gamely until the final out, were unable to make more than four solid blows in the seven-inning battle and were unable, even, to insert these biggies when they were needed.

It was Evans' third victory of the series and his seventh mound conquest since joining the Laughlin combine. In fact, Evans has won every game he started for the West Virginians, aided by a defense that is second to none in the circuit and an offensive punch that is uncanny in its ability to appear at the proper moment.

Yock Huffman, who won his two previous starts in this series, did the throwing for the Wellsville entry and turned in a workmanlike job. But his club was not hitting behind him and where there are no hits there are few runs, if any.

Even at that Wellsville came near tying the score in the sixth inning, and would have doled out the lead but for the almost superhuman catch pulled off by Bubin in right field. C. Wagner lined out one of his typical swats, with Rager ahead of him. If the ball had got past Bubin, both men undoubtedly would have made the circuit. The catch was the second of a pair of the same kind made by Bubin. In the inning before that he pulled down a hard drive by Huffman on the foul line.

In two innings, the sixth and the second, the visitors had scoring rallies started, only to lose their balance in both instances.

Reese singled safely in the second

RIVAL MANAGERS' STATEMENTS

As an aftermath to Laughlin's victory over Wellsville in the final game of the City league championship series, Manager Joe Dickey of the visitors today expressed his satisfaction over the situation because, as he said, "I believe it is a fitting reward for the members of the Laughlin team who have stuck together through thick and thin this season and indicates plainly the result of the harmonious relations that have prevailed throughout the season."

"Wellsville was one of the hardest teams to lick that we have faced this season. They have a good team and a fine bunch of fellows on it. I admire the way they stuck it out a year ago when they had no possible hope to win and the manner in which they fought their way to the top this year." Dickey also compliments Wellsville fans on their loyalty to the club. Congratulating Dickey on his victory, Manager Roy Nicholson of Wellsville simply admonishes the Newell pilot to "wait." "Perhaps," Nicholson said, "the jump from last place last year to first this year was too much to negotiate all at once, but now that the boys have been up there, they've begun to like it and it's going to be tough to keep them away from there. The Laughlin club is a real bunch of sportsmen all the way through and played heads-up ball all the time to win this series."

after Talbot had fanned and was headed toward the keystone bag when Edwards drove one down to second. The ball took a hop and bounced off Reese's shoulder, the Wellsville third baseman being retired.

Laughlin counted one run in the second and another in the fourth.

After Merchant had hit one to Edwards at first for the first out, Simcox poked a two-base clout to middle and scored on Dugman's single over short.

Two were gone when Laughlin scored his second run. Merchant fled out to right and Simcox was retired by Talbot at first. Dugman slammed a vicious Texas leaguer into left center. The ball took a mean hop and bounded over Rager's shoulder, Dugman going to third. From the hot corner he finished on Bubin's single to right.

Laughlin had another run started in the sixth but was unable to send it around. After Merchant had grounded out, Simcox singled. Dugman flew out to left. Bubin beat out an infield hit, putting Simcox on third. Dugman drove a roller toward third but Reese scooped it up, forcing Simcox.

SPEED ON LAND AND SEA

WITH the fourteenth race for the Harmsworth Trophy, the British International Plaque, featuring the twelfth annual regatta staged by the Detroit Gold Cup Committee on the Detroit River, September 1 to 3, interest of speed fans again will be centered around Gar Wood and his chances of winning the trophy once again.

The bronze plaque has been decorating the trophy room of the Detroit Yacht Club since 1920, when Wood triumphed over England and France in the races at Cowes, England. Sir Mackay Edgar, of England, tried to lift it in 1921 and France made an unsuccessful attempt in 1926. This year Miss Marion Barbara Carstairs is the English challenger and she will make a serious attempt to return the world's title to England with a trio of fast hydroplanes, the Estelle I, II, and III. The boats were built by Saunders, of Cowes, and are powered with Napier Lion engines.

Foreign threats against the International trophy seldom have been taken seriously, but this year there is little doubt that a supreme effort is to be made by Miss Carstairs, so Wood and the other U. S. sportsmen figure their defense of the trophy will be no walk-away—if the term walk-away can be used in reference to speedy water craft.

Wood, the leading water racer in this country, will have three boats in the elimination trials on the Detroit river today and tomorrow. Other entries include Jimmy Talbot, Jr., of Los Angeles; H. Alex Johnson, of New York, and J. H. Rand, Jr., of Buffalo. The U. S. defenders will be chosen from seven speed boats entered in the eliminations.

The Harmsworth, as originally planned, will be run in 30-mile heats. The first is to be run Saturday, the second is due Labor Day and if a third is necessary the boats will be lined up again next Tuesday.

For several years Gar Wood has been among the most prominent of the water speeder enthusiasts and he has raced his entries consistently both here and abroad. He is an outstanding figure in the sport and he has met with particularly good success when it comes to winning trophies.

During the water carnival at Detroit a hydroplane race for the North American championship also will be run. This even will include candi-

Bucs Move up on Double Win

Go Into Tie With Reds for Fourth Place

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 29.—The Pirates, National League champions, pulled up to a tie with Cincinnati for fourth place by taking a double header from Philadelphia here yesterday while the Reds were idle. The Pirates won the first game, 9 to 2, and the second, 16 to 7.

Hill was master of the first game, allowing only four hits. Sweetland and Miller were touched for fifteen hits but three double plays held down the scoring.

In the second game the Buccaneers hammered four Quaker hurlers for 21 hits, Lloyd Waner getting four of them. Grimes, who started for the Pirates, was driven to cover in the second inning and Dawson finished, receiving credit for the win.

Motors, Katies Boost Strength for Series

City Title Series Contenders Add New Players For Third Clash Tomorrow Night at Columbian Park.

With the weak spots patched up and both clubs now presenting lineups with plenty of strength from top to bottom, Turk Nash and K. T. K. will resume their city title series tomorrow night at Columbian park. The game will be started at 5:30.

The Katies won the opener and Turk Nash took the second.

On even terms, the rival managers agreed then to fill up what they considered weak places in defense and offense of their respective lineups and finish out the series with some genuine diamond exhibitions.

Manager Saul McCoy of the Katies is shifting three members of the Homer Laughlin squad, champions of the City league as a result of their victories over Wellsville last night in the final game of the 1928 series, to the K. T. K. roster. The trio includes Billy Watson, outfielder; Dugman, pitcher, outfielder and slugger; and Chap Finley, shortstop.

Pilot John Mowler of the Motors is bringing over Pete Cebula, an infielder, from Chester; Kent McConnell, an outfielder, also a member of the Chester club; and Shultz, an infielder, formerly with the Madison Billards.

Whether additional players will be obtained will not be ascertained until the clubs lineup tomorrow night on the East End lot.

With the several changes that are contemplated on both squads, the brand of ball in this particular series should show considerable improvement in the concluding contests.

RECREATION LEAGUE

The Club Billiards kept up their winning streak by defeating the Academy Billiards, 6 to 3, at Klondyke, Wurzel and A. Smith were on the points for the Clubs, while Kirkham and Horwell formed the Academy battery. John Pardell and Kirkham led the hitters.

dates for the American Harmsworth team and Commodore Harry Greening, of Hamilton, Ont., has entered his latest design Rainbow VII.

While discussing speed kings it might be mentioned that Leon Duray recently won the unofficial speed crown of the automobile tracks when he defeated Ray Keech, holder of the world speed record on a straightaway track, in two of three five-mile heats at Salem, N. H.

While this contest was sanctioned by the American Automobile Association, the governing body for all automobile races in this country, it was held to settle an argument arising when Keech defeated Duray and three other drivers in a 200-mile race July 4, Duray averaged 127.1 miles an hour in the recent events.

So, unofficially or otherwise, Leon Duray and Gar Wood can well be crowned and properly classified as the speed kings of land and sea.

Hornsbys' Club Cops Twin Bill!

Rajah's Hits Help Lick McGrawmen Twice.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Rogers Hornsbey, "sold down the river" by McGraw, worked hard and fruitfully to widen the gap between the Giants and their pennant chances in a sidling his fellow Braves to two-time New Yorkers, 3 to 2 and 7 to 5, thus dropping the Giants five and a half games behind the Cards.

The clan McGraw has now lost eight out of its last ten starts, six of them in a row. Rajah scored two runs during the opener and, when the Giants overtook him, smashed a double to the fence to score Brown with the winning tally. George Sisler, another old St. Louis idol, broke the tie in the eighth of the nightcap and Hornsbey delivered a single to bring in the Braves' seventh run.

The venerable Clarence Mitchell of the Cards prevented the Cubs from advancing at the expense of the hapless Giants when he shut out the third place team, 6 to 0. At Pittsburgh, Hill, Grimes and Dawson thoroughly drubbed the Phils in a bargain session, 9 to 2 and 11 to 7. The double win puts the Pirates on a par with the Reds who were idle and leaves these two teams and the Giants and Cubs, bunched within the space of six percentage points, fighting for runner-up position.

Connie Mack's Athletics cut a whole game from the margin of the idle Yankees by turning in a twoply victory over the White Sox.

The successful day brought the Mackmen to within three games of the Huggins crew again. Lefty Grove chalked up another victory, his twelfth in a row and twentieth of the season, when Max Bishop's homer won the first, 1 to 0, and Bing Miller's smashing single in the eleventh inning of the nightcap scored Mule Haas to win the overtime session, 4 to 3.

Using four pitchers, the Browns trimmed the Red Sox, 8 to 6, but the Sox are used to taking the short end by now. The Tigers emerged on top in their brush with the Cleveland Indians—a free-living affair that went 8 to 4.

Others may have traveled faster, but not over the distances or in the conveniences in which these two speed demons specialize.

AT NEW YORK—Pal Silvers, welterweight from Brownsville, N. Y., gained the decision over Jack Britton of New York, 10 rounds.

AT YOUNGSTOWN, O.—George Courtney, Oklahoma cowboy, won decision over Dick Evans, Youngstown middleweight, 10 rounds.

Mystery at Styles

A Mystery Serial That Defies Solution

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

"I think that I have more diplomacy than you give me credit for."

"My friend," besought Poirot, "I implore you, do not outrage yourself! Your help has been of the most invaluable. It is but the extremely beautiful nature that you have, which made me pause."

"Well," I grumbled, a little mollified. "I still think you might have given me a hint."

"But I did, my friend. Several hints. You would not take them. Think now, did I ever say to you that I believed John Cavendish guilty? Did I not, on the contrary, tell you that he would almost certainly be acquitted?"

"Yes, but—"

"And did I not immediately afterwards speak of the difficulty of bringing the murderer to justice? Was it not plain to you that I was speaking of two entirely different persons?"

"No," I said, "it was not plain to me!"

"Then again," continued Poirot, "at the beginning, did I not repeat to you several times that I didn't want Mr. Inglethorpe arrested now? That should have conveyed something to you."

"Don't you mean to say you suspected him as long ago as that?"

"Yes. To begin with, whoever else might benefit by Mrs. Inglethorpe's death, her husband would benefit the most. There was no getting away from that. When I went up to Styles with you that first day, I had no idea as to how the crime had been committed, but from what I know of Mr. Inglethorpe I fancied that it would be very hard to find anything to connect him with it."

"When I arrived at the chateau, I realized at once that it was Mrs. Inglethorpe who had burnt the will; and there, by the way, you cannot complain, my friend, for I tried my best to force on you the significance of that bedroom fire in midsummer."

"Yes, yes," I said impatiently. "Go on."

"Well, my friend, as I say, my views as to Mr. Inglethorpe's guilt were very much shaken. There was, in fact, so much evidence against him that I was inclined to believe that he had not done it."

"When did you change your mind?"

"When I found that the more efforts I made to clear him, the more efforts he made to get himself arrested. Then, when I discovered that Inglethorpe had nothing to do with Mrs. Raikes, and that in fact it was John Cavendish who was interested in that quarter. I was quite sure."

"But why?"

"Simply this. If it had been Inglethorpe who was carrying on an intrigue with Mrs. Raikes, his silence was perfectly comprehensible. But, when I discovered that it was known all over the village that it was John who was attracted by the farmer's pretty wife, his silence was quite a different interpretation. It was nonsense to pretend that he was afraid of the scandal, as no possible scandal could attach to him."

"This attitude of his gave me furiously to think, and I was slowly forced to the conclusion that Alfred Inglethorpe wanted to be arrested. Eh bien! from that moment, I was equally determined that he should not be arrested."

"Wait a moment. I don't see why he wished to be arrested?"

"Because, mon ami, it is the law of your country that a man once acquitted can never be tried again for the same offense. Aha! but it was clever—his idea! Assuredly, he is a man of method. See here, he knew that in his position he was bound to be suspected, so he conceived the exceedingly clever idea of preparing a lot of manufactured evidence against himself. He wished to be suspected. He wished to be arrested. He would then produce his irreproachable alibi—and, hey presto, he was safe for life!"

"But I still don't see how he managed to prove his alibi, and yet go to the chemist's shop?"

Poirot stared at me in surprise.

"Is it possible? My poor friend! You have not yet realized that it was Miss Howard who went to the chemist's shop?"

"Miss Howard?"

"But, certainly. Who else? It was most easy for her. She is of a good height, her voice is deep and manly; moreover, remember, she and Inglethorpe or cousins, and there is a distinct resemblance between them, especially in their gait and bearing. It was simplicity itself. They are a clever pair!"

"I am still a little fogged as to how exactly the bromide business was done," I remarked.

"But," I will reconstruct for you as far as possible. I am inclined to think that Miss Howard was the master mind in that affair. You remember her once mentioning that her father was a doctor? Possibly she dispensed his medicines for him, or she may have taken the idea from one of the many books lying about when Mademoiselle Cynthia was studying for her exam. Anyway, she was familiar with the fact that the addition of a bromide to a mixture containing strychnine would cause the precipitation of the latter."

"Probably the idea came to her quite suddenly. Mrs. Inglethorpe had a box of bromide powders, which she occasionally took at night. What could be easier quietly than to dissolve one or more of those powders in Mrs. Inglethorpe's large sized bottle of medicine when it came from Cook's? The risk is practically nil."

"The tragedy will not take place until nearly a fortnight later. If anyone has seen either of them touching the medicine, they will have forgotten it by that time. Miss Howard will have engineered her quarrel, and departed from the house."

"The lapse of time, and her absence, will defeat all suspicion. Yes, it was a clever idea! If they had left it alone, it is possible the crime might never have been brought home to them. But they were not satisfied. They tried to be too clever—and that was their undoing."

Poirot puffed at his tiny cigarette, his eyes fixed on the ceiling.

"They arranged a plan to throw suspicion on John Cavendish, by buying strychnine at the village chemist's, and signing the register in his hand-writing."

"On Monday Mrs. Inglethorpe will take the last dose of her medicine. On 'onday, therefore, at six o'clock, Alfred Inglethorpe arrives to be seen by a number of people at a spot far removed from the village. Miss Howard has previously made up a cock and bull story about him and Mrs. Raikes to account for his holding his tongue afterwards."

"At six o'clock, Miss Howard, disguised as Alfred Inglethorpe, enters the chemist's shop, with her story about a dog, obtains the strychnine, and writes the name of Alfred Inglethorpe in John's hand-writing, which she had previously studied carefully."

"But, as it will never do if John, too, can prove an alibi, she writes him an anonymous note—still copying his hand-writing—which takes him to a remote spot where it is exceedingly unlikely that anyone will see him."

"So far, all goes well. Miss Howard goes back to Middlesbrough. Alfred Inglethorpe returns to Styles. There is nothing that can compromise him in any way since it is Miss Howard who has the strychnine, which, after all, is only wanted as a blind to throw suspicion on John Cavendish."

"But now a hitch occurs. Mrs. Inglethorpe does not take her medicine that night. The broken bell. Cynthia's absence—arranged by Inglethorpe through his wife—all these are wasted. And then—he makes his slip."

CHAPTER 41.

"Mrs. Inglethorpe is out, and he sits down to write to his accomplice, who, he fears may be in a panic at the non-success of their plan. It is probable that Mrs. Inglethorpe returned earlier than he expected. Caught in the act, and somewhat flurried he hastily shuts and locks his desk."

"He fears that if he remains in the room he may have to open it again and that Mrs. Inglethorpe might catch sight of the letter before he could snatch it up. So he goes out and walks in the woods, little dreaming that Mrs. Inglethorpe will open his desk, and discover the incriminating document."

AUTOMOBILE HITS MOTORCYCLIST

NEWARK, O., Aug. 29. — Dean Brandt, 18, Steubenville, was recovering at City hospital here today following injuries received when the motorcycle he was riding was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by Benjamin Jones of New Strataville, near here, yesterday. Jones escaped without injury.

Brandt's condition was believed precarious when he was brought here but hospital attaches today reported him as "much improved."

COLLEGE NAMES NEW PRESIDENT

GALLIPOLIS, O., Aug. 29. — Dr. W. W. Bartlett, faculty member of Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., has accepted the presidency of Rio Grande college, Gallia county, it was announced here today by trustees of Rio Grande. He will assume his duties Sept. 17.

Bartlett succeeds Horace T. Houf, who resigned the presidency to accept a faculty position at Ohio university at Athens. The new president is a graduate of Colgate college, a prominent Baptist, and a former missionary to China.

TRUCK DRIVER TRAIN VICTIM

XENIA, O., Aug. 29. — Thomas Duty, 54, Ironton truck driver, was dead here today from injuries received when his truck was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train at Trebbing crossing, three miles south of here, last night.

Duty was driving a truck loaded with apples, which were thrown for many feet, breaking the windows in the grocery of C. O. Miller located 59 feet from the crossing. It was said that Duty drove on an unobstructed crossing while the warning lights were flashing.

2,000 BARRELS OIL LOST IN FIRE

TIFFIN, O., Aug. 29. — Fire of unknown origin today had destroyed six oil tanks and 2,000 barrels of oil on the farm of Jacob F. Kimmel in the oil fields northwest of here. The oil was the property of the Muncy Valley Oil Co., of Fostoria. The loss was estimated at over $5,000.

The fire started yesterday and the work of the Basson, O., fire department saved other tanks and wells in the vicinity from catching.

SECOND DEATH IN THREE DAYS

NEWARK, O., Aug. 29. — Heart disease today had claimed the second member of a Newark family, with the sudden death of Carl Wolverton, 38, who fell dead in his suburban home yesterday evening. The first death was Saturday when his son William dropped dead of the same cause.
